APM Training Requirements

To Whom It May Concern:

Atlantic Plant Maintenance ("APM") is committed to a "Zero Incident Culture" – full compliance and superb performance. Part of that culture is an expectation of zero incidents when it comes to safety and quality performance.

The Zero Incident Culture for APM and our industry can be achieved through cooperation between APM and the UBC. To further that culture, APM realizes the importance for the Millwright members we employ to complete the upgrade training offered by the UBC International Training Center.

Starting January 1st, 2011 APM would prefer on call out jobs that the millwrights come with the following upgrade training at a minimum:

- Rigging
- Hytorq
- MW 16 Safety
- Human Performance Training
- GE Familiarization

In addition starting January 1st, 2012 APM will also be asking for members to have the following upgrade training at a minimum:

- GE Gas Turbine Qualification
- GE Steam Turbine Qualification
- 40 Hour Scaffold Erector

Sincerely,

Mark Benacquisto
